

Tom Stout

Thomas “Tom” A. Stout, Jr. is Director of Federal Tax Legislative and Regulatory Services at KPMG LLP in Washington, D.C. Mr. Stout joined KPMG in July 1999, after spending 19 years at the nationally known law firm of Vinson & Elkins. At Vinson & Elkins, Mr. Stout practiced federal tax law, with concentration on international and corporate matters. As part of his practice, he counseled clients from a number of industries, including financial services, manufacturing, telecommunications, and transportation. He represented these clients with respect to legislative and regulatory matters before the Internal Revenue Service and the Treasury Department, as well as before the United States Congress. Mr. Stout is a member of the International Fiscal Association and the American Bar Association, where he is a member of the Committees on Government Relations, U.S. Activities of Foreign Taxpayers and Treaties, Foreign Activities of U.S. Taxpayers. Mr. Stout is also Vice Chairman of the AICPA Committee on Tax Policy and Legislation and a member of the National Foreign Trade Counsel Committees on Legislation and Tax Treaties. Mr. Stout is a graduate of The Johns Hopkins University (B.A. 1972), the University of Maryland School of Law (J.D. 1975), and Georgetown University School of Law (M.L.T. 1988).